

Jenna Armato, Growth & Success Coach

Jenna joined the John Maxwell Team in 2017 with the mission to facilitate growth in the lives of others.

She coaches, individuals, businesses and non-profit organizations in Leadership Development, Growth & Resilience, and Effective Communications.

Jenna works with clients virtually and in person to equip them with tools, training and strategies to uncover and identify opportunities for growth and create new results in their lives and their organizations.

As a DISC Certified Trainer, Jenna helps people leverage awareness of behavioral styles of themselves and others to strengthen connection, collaboration, and communication in every area of their lives at home, at work and in the community.

Prior to becoming certified with the John Maxwell Team, Jenna spent 20 years working in the advertising and marketing industries developing relationship, content, and engagement strategies both online and offline.

She combines her passion and expertise in growth facilitation with her extensive marketing background and provides Thinking Partner sessions that spark creativity and outside of the box thinking, to help her clients reach new levels of achievement within themselves and within their businesses.

Jenna is a John Maxwell certified Coach, Speaker and Trainer, a DISC certified Trainer and a Licensed teacher through the Empowered Living Community.

Jenna serves on the Board for TriCounty Community Network (TCN), the Philadelphia American Marketing Association, as well as Trellis for Tomorrow. She is an Ambassador for TriCounty Area Chamber of Commerce, she Leads the Empowered Living Community Connection Pillar, and is a charter member of the WomenWillpower organization. Jenna serves on the President's Advisory Council for the John Maxwell Team.
